ON KAWARA 1966

29.03 - 14.06.2015

On Kawara (1933-2014) est considéré comme l'un des artistes les plus influents de la seconde moitié du vingtième siècle. L'exposition lui étant consacré au musée Dhondt-Dhaenens rassemble une série d'oeuvres réalisées en 1966, une année clé dans la carrière d'On Kawara notamment car il s'agit du début de la série Today (1966-2013). Ces tableaux, notamment connu sous le nom de 'date paintings', documentent la date à laquelle ils ont été réalisés, suivant chacun un format prédéterminé.

Si On Kawara fait office de figure emblématique de l'art conceptuel européen et américain, sa pratique va bien au-delà des strictes restrictions chères à ses pairs. De toute évidence, les règles qui régissaient son travail étaient rigides, mais la dépendance au temps ajoute des facteurs hautement imprévisibles à son travail.

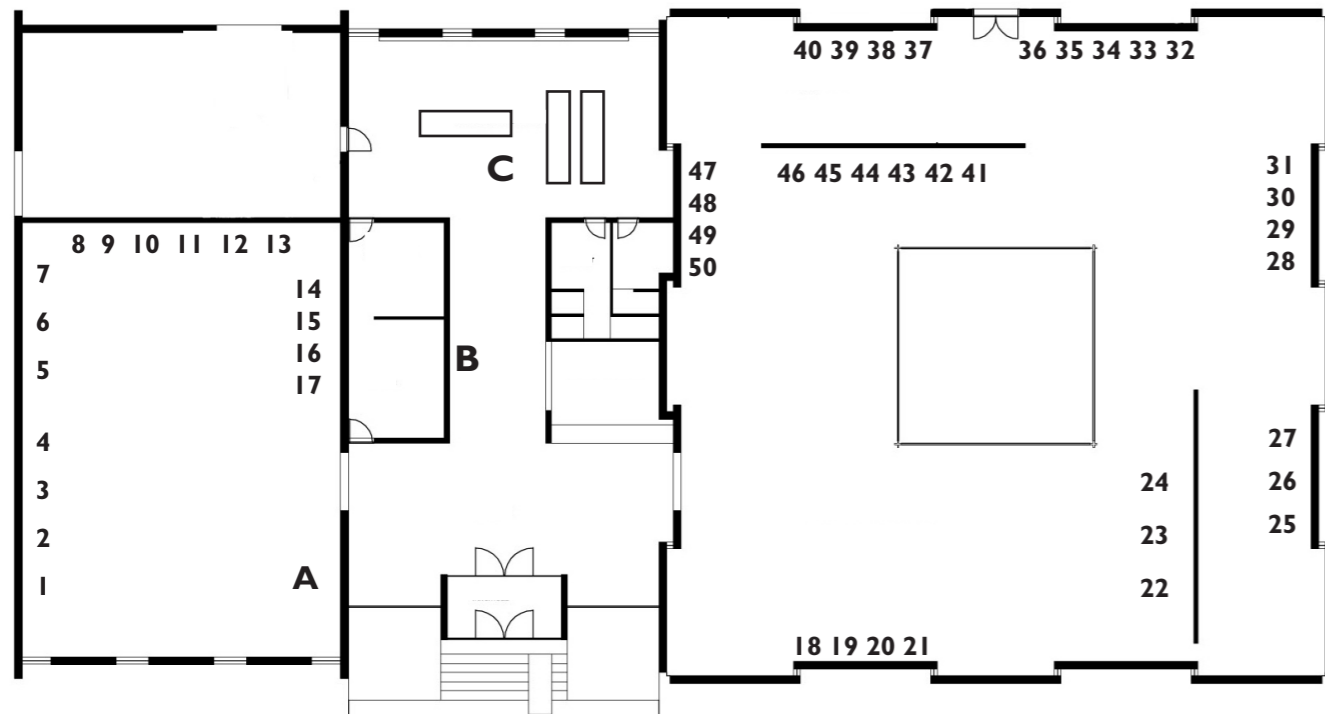

Au centre de l'exposition se trouve une vaste sélection de 51 tableaux de 1966. La plupart n'ont jamais été exposés auparavant. Ces tableaux sont accompagnés de 35 Journals (datés de 1966 à 2000), soit des registres où sont compilés les couleurs, les titres, les dates et les sous-titres des date paintings. L'exposition comprend aussi une série de photographies montrant les date paintings de 1966 dans le studio de l'artiste, situé sur 13th Street à Manhattan. Ces photographies, datant vraisemblablement de la fin de l'année 1966, apportent un contrepoint historique à la présentation des peintures du musée.

One Hundred Years Calendar — 20th Century "23,928 days" nous donne plus d'informations sur la production de la série Today en montrant la fréquence, sur une période donnée, avec laquelle Kawara réalisait ses peintures.

Il s'agit de la première exposition institutionnelle en Belgique depuis celle qui s'est tenue en 1975 au Palais des Beaux-Arts à Bruxelles: On Kawara, 1973 - Production d'une année. Parallèlement à l'exposition au musée Dhondt-Dhaenens, le Musée Solomon R. Guggenheim à New York présente la grande rétrospective On Kawara - Silence (06.02.2015 – 03.05.2015), soit un vaste aperçu du travail de l'artiste tout au long de sa vie.

Cette exposition est réalisée grâce à l'appui généreux de David Zwirner, New York/London. Commissaire d'exposition : Tommy Simoens.
